Accurate Laboratory Diagnostics –
A Pillar of Quality Healthcare

Cape Town International Convention Centre, South Africa
December 1–7, 2012

Knowledge, networking and partnerships for advancing best laboratory practices

We invite you to join an expected 1500 healthcare professionals, program managers, policy makers, students and industry leaders for the First International Conference of the African Society for Laboratory Medicine!

Why attend ASLM2012?
- Network with global leaders and professionals from the fields of laboratory medicine and public health
- Receive CME credit
- Attend interactive satellite sessions and visit exhibition booths
- Hear presentations from Keynote and Plenary speakers, including Dr. Asha-Rose Migiro, the UN Secretary-General’s Special Envoy for AIDS in Africa, and US Ambassador Eric Goosby, Global AIDS Coordinator for the United States.

ASLM2012 Keynote Speaker
Dr. Asha-Rose Migiro, the UN Secretary-General’s Special Envoy for AIDS in Africa, has dedicated her career to AIDS response as well as to women’s rights. Dr. Migiro served as Deputy Secretary-General of the United Nations from 2007-2012. While in office, she brought a great spirit of partnership to the UN, urging public-private partnerships and collaboration to make progress against global health targets.

ASLM2012 Highlights
- Diverse satellite meetings and workshops including technical working group meetings, equipment demonstrations, and training sessions.
- Plenary sessions, oral and poster presentations and symposia provide ample opportunities for knowledge sharing and networking.
- Keynote addresses and plenary speeches from leaders in the fields of laboratory medicine and public health.

What is ASLM?
ASLM (www.aslm.org) is a pan-African professional body with a mission to advance professional laboratory medicine practice, science, systems, and networks in Africa needed to support preventive medicine, quality care of patients and disease control through partnership with governments and relevant organizations.