

Public Health Sciences Grand Rounds

Public Housing Relocations in Atlanta: Implications for Relocaters' Health

Hannah Cooper, ScD
Associate Professor
Department of Behavioral Sciences and Health Education
Rollins School of Public Health

Hannah Cooper, ScD, is an Associate Professor and Vice Chair in the Department of Behavioral Sciences and Health Education, and leads the Program on the Social Determinants of health. She is also the Co-Director of the Prevention Sciences Core for Emory University's Center for AIDS Research (CFAR), and Director of the RSPH Program on the Social Determinants of Health and of the RSPH Certificate Program in the Sociocontextual Determinants of Health. Her research focuses on the social determinants of drug misuse and of drug-related harms. She applies multilevel, geospatial, and qualitative methods to explore these topics.

Friday, March 17, 2017

12:00 – 1:00 p.m.

Rollins Auditorium, CNR Building

Pizza and beverages will be served